Dear Parent/Carer

Dear

Year 11 Mock Exams

I am writing to inform you of the upcoming assessments for «Forename» as «heshe» progresses through year 11. At the time of writing we have 99 school days until the Summer exam series begins and «heshe» will be sitting «hisher» final GCSE exams. There will be two sessions for Mock exams between now and Easter, as well as regular practise of exam questions and papers in all subjects.

Dates for your diary:

Week commencing 20/11/17 – Mini Mock Week

Students will sit mock exams in English and Maths in their usual exam conditions. Readers and Scribes will be available to those who are eligible and extra time will be allocated where possible.

Two weeks commencing 8/1/18 – Full Mock Fortnight

Students will sit mock exams in all subjects in their usual exam conditions. This time is extremely important, and «Forename» should treat these as if they are the real thing to get the most out of the experience as possible.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind you that intervention sessions are offered every school day for «Forename» to allow «himher» to access revision resources. The sessions begin at the end of the school day at 3:10 pm, and finish at 4:00 pm. We cannot stress enough the importance of attending these sessions, as some resources will only be available during these times, and students will be taught the skills needed to continue their revision at home.

Intervention is not to be considered as an alternative to revision at home. «Forename» should be completing at least 4 hours per week of homework or revision at home, this can be done at a time which suits «himher». We recommend creating (and sticking to) a revision timetable which includes all of their examined subjects, particularly in the run up to the mock exams.

If you have any queries regarding how to support «Forename» at home, please don't hesitate to get in touch.

Yours sincerely

E Davies
